

Duty done, you return to the princess's castle victoriously. Not only are you covered in jewels, but you have a scale from the dragon to prove that you have slain it. You arrive to the sound of trumpets.

But the only thing you truly have eyes for is the princess, her golden hair glistening in the sunlight, as she beams at you. "My hero!" she says, as she closes her eyes and puckers her lips towards you.

*If you kiss the princess,
turn to page 15.*

If you allow the princess to kiss you, turn to page 15.