

We've found out why the View-O-Scope isn't working. The janitorial staff just reported that two of the cables in the Alternate Signal Processor subsystem came loose last night, but not to worry, they plugged them back in. Guess they didn't get them right; it should have been the opposite. If you can figure out which two plugs got swapped, since they don't remember, we'll get it working again!

Photograph of ALTERNATE SIGNAL PROCESSOR